

I subscribe to XM Radio because commercial radio is unlistenable. The choice and clarity of XM, along with the information, are what convinced me to subscribe for a three-year run. The NAB's petition is egregious and monopolistic and I urge you to oppose it. XM Radio is a good business model, allowing subscribers to pay for choice and freedom and freedom of choice. I have neither freedom nor choice when it comes to commercial radio, which should put its own house in order rather than stifle such a wonderful alternative.
